At 1,800 mines

Coal strike opens

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Half the country's coal production ground to a halt today as the United Mine Workers union struck 1,800 mines.

The last hope for averting the nationwide walkout died when contract talks between the UMW and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association were recessed Monday night in Washington.

The contract, which covers about 130,000 of the union's miners, expired at 12:01 a.m. Tuesday.

Thousands of miners, particularly those in Ohio and West Virginia, got an early jump on the strike by not showing up for work Monday.

Virtually all mines were closed in West Virginia, Ohio, Virginia, Indiana and Illinois. All union mines, employing about 22,000 miners, were closed in Kentucky.

UMW mines in southwestern Pennsylvania, which employ about 30,000 miners, all shut down. Eastern Pennsylvania mines are also UMW but come another contract and were not expected to strike.

Only two Tennessee mines are represented by the UMW, and they were expected to strike today as well.

Union president Arnold Miller called the strike, although he said it "will bring hardships and human tragedy" to the miners. The union maintains no strike fund, and medical, retirement and death benefits for virtually all the union's 277,000 active and retired members stopped with the coal.

Some union miners said they would picket non-union sites to try to stop mining there. Virginia and Kentucky have substantial non-union mining.

Orie Hunt, president of a union local in eastern Kentucky's Pike County, said miners there plan to shut down all non-union mines in the area. "There's a lot of them and they know it's coming," Hunt said.

Another eastern Kentucky local union officer, Billy Bartley, said local members would probably meet today or Wednesday to decide whether to picket nonunion mines.

Privately, Miller has said he foresees a strike of three months, and sources say the coal industry is prepared to accept a work stoppage of at least a month.

Industry officials say utility plants and steel mills have laid in coal stockpiles large enough to last several weeks, and government officials have indicated a strike would not be the national problem it has been in years past.

In the West, individual contract negotiations have been under way between several companies and the UMW. In Wyoming, where there are three UMW locals, no strike was planned. Two of the locals have already come to terms with their companies, and the third was to vote today on a new contract proposal with Kemmerer Coal Co. That union represents 435 miners, who will strike at 11:59 p.m. today if the ratification vote fails.

In Montana, superintendent Larry Fox of the Peabody Coal Co. mine at Colstrip, the only Montana mine represented by the UMW, said his company was still negotiating with the union.

Coffee Break . . .

JUNIORS AND seniors from 10 area high schools interested in agriculture and engineering technologies are invited to attend a special open house Thursday, Dec. 8 at Southern State College.

Dale Stokes, chairman of the agriculture department at Southern State College, said the open house is being planned in conjunction with the college's engineering department and "will be of real interest to those people and their parents interested in agriculture and engineering technologies."

The program will include tours of the north campus (Wilmington) laboratory facilities and will offer sessions on admission procedures, financial aid, and a general orientation to college.

The open house is specifically designed for students from Blanchester, Clinton-Massie, East Clinton, Fairfield, Hillsboro, Greenfield McClain, Miami Trace, Washington Senior and Wilmington high schools and the Laurel Oaks Joint Vocational School.

Two sessions are planned, a morning session starting at 9:30 a.m. and ending at 11:30 a.m. and an afternoon session from 1 to 3 p.m. Personnel will be stationed at the main gate to meet visitors.

Guidance counselors from the 10 high schools are aware of the open house and can answer questions concerning the event, Stokes said.

water line from Glenn Avenue to the property would cost $7,400 or $5,200 more than through Commercial Avenue.

IN OTHER action Monday, the board:

- Hired Chief George Pratt, a 22-year veteran of the U.S. Navy, as a naval science assistant at the Washington Senior High School. He has spent the last several years with U.S. Navy in Naples, Italy;

- Heard a brief summary of the district's special education programs and future plans from Nestor. The district presently has three learning disabilities (LD) units and four EMR units. Next, year state funds will be allocated for another LD unit;

- Established a high school staff activity account which will be funded by the placement of a beverage server in the teachers' lounge. Profits from the soft drink machine in the teachers' lounge will also be placed in the staff activity fund;

- Hired David Sadler as a substitute bus driver, pending completion of license requirements;

- Accepted the resignation of food service assistant, Mrs. Franchen McArthur, and hired Mrs. Maire Beverly as a food service assistant;

- Approved the paying of non-teaching personnel on Dec. 29 instead of the regular pay date, Jan. 5; and

- Granted permission to solicit bids on interest rates for the investment of funds acquired in the first quarter of 1978.

Fire, police issues eyed

City Council slates special meet Friday

A possible break in the stalemate over negotiations between the Washington C.H. City Council and the city fire and police departments was signaled today with the announcement of a special Council session called for Friday evening.

Council Chairman Mrs. Bertha McCullough set the Friday meeting for 5:30 p.m. in City Manager George Shapter's office. The stated purpose of the session is to discuss personnel matters.

The last full Council session was held Nov. 28, when the Council members hammered out pay proposals to the two departments. Both the police and firemen have submitted counter proposals to the city, and no new negotiations have occurred since.

Both departments have threatened to take some type of action if the city does not approve their pay proposals by Dec. 15, the next regular Council meeting.

While the police officers said it is a bit too early to talk of striking, the firemen say a strike is unavoidable if an agreement is not met.

The fire department submitted its counter proposal to Council early last week, soon after the firefighters received an offer from the city. Lt. Cecil D. Seaman reported today that no word has been received from Council on their proposal.

The police, who submitted a counter

Jan. 20 deadline slated

Commission sets dog license fees

Fayette County dog owners can begin buying 1978 license tags beginning Dec. 15, according to the Fayette County Board of Commissioners.

The commissioners Monday set the dog license fees for the coming year at $4 per dog and $20 for kennel operators in the county.

Area residents will have until Jan. 20 to purchase the new tags. After that date a $2 penalty will be charged to dog owners, and a $5 will be charged kennel operators.

There has been no change in the license fee in 1978 as compared to this year, but the commissioners noted several changes in the animal control program during the past year.

The county sold nearly 1,000 more dog licenses in 1977 than in previous years, according to Commissioner Robert Mace. Previously, around 3,600 dogs were licensed, but this past year approximately 4,600 were licensed.

The increased sale of licenses could be attributed to the larger number of dogs picked up by the county dog warden and his assistants during the past year. When unlicensed dogs are picked up by the county, the owner must buy a license before the dog is returned.

Since last spring, two assistant dog wardens, who were hired under the

Officials prepare new proposal

City board may receive access to property near high school

By PHIL LEWIS
Record-Herald City Editor

The Washington C.H. Board of Education may get that access road to its 17 acres of land behind the Washington Senior High School after all.

Efforts to acquire an access to the land via the newly developed Commercial Avenue, which runs between McDonald's Restaurant and the Washington Square Shopping Center, were stalled last month when developer Donald P. Woods said he was unwilling to sell the right of way.

However, Woods and Edwin Nestor, superintendent of the city school district, met recently and a proposal to assure the school district an access to its land was prepared.

Under that proposal, Woods would donate the right of way to the city of Washington C.H., if the school district will build 127-feet of street extending Commercial Avenue to the 17 acres of school property.

Woods would then construct a previously planned 100 square-foot turn-around next to the school property.

School board members were favorable to the proposal during Monday night's meeting in the Washington Middle School. They passed a motion approving the plan pending legal clearance and actual costs.

Nestor has contacted an attorney to see if the school could pay for the construction of 127 feet of street on property not owned by the school district.

The cost of constructing the section of street was estimated at $3,800. Nestor told the board it would also be practical to run a water line to the school property before the street construction is completed. The cost of running such a line (it would extend 227 feet—127 feet to the 100 square-foot turn-around) would be $10 a foot or $2,270.

This would put the total cost of the project at approximately $6,000.

The school board members seemed to feel the access road would be worth the cost. The 17 acres which extends from the high school to Glenn Avenue is considered prime development land.

"It would increase the value of the property 10 times what it is now," board president Robert Highfield said.

The cost of the project would possibly be covered through the capital improvement fund and be paid back on rent of the 17 acres.

The land is presently leased as farm land for $900 a year. However, a plan to lease small (one-eighth of an acre) plots of the land to area residents for gardens is being considered by the board.

If the board does not acquire access to Commercial Avenue, the other primary access to the land would be off of Glenn Avenue. It was pointed out that the distance from Glenn Avenue to the property line is 740 feet, meaning a

HOME HEAVILY DAMAGED—Firefighters work along the east wing of the late Dr. K.K. Wong's home, 3676 U.S. 62-NE, early Tuesday during a major fire which caused heavy damage to the second story. Early estimates place the damage at $60,000 on the $180,000 home. About 37 regular and volunteer firemen from the Washington C.H., Bloomingburg and New Holland fire departments battled the blaze for about two hours before it was brought under control.

Fire heavily damaged the second story of the late Dr. Kwok Kuen Wong's home, 3676 U.S. 62-NE early Tuesday. A "tentative guess" placed the damage at about $60,000, according to Ed Reeves, a Washington C.H. insurance agent. He added the dollar loss "could go higher." The house, which was unoccupied, is reportedly valued at $180,000.

Washington C.H. firefighters received the alarm shortly after 2 a.m.

Lt. Richard Reed said, "When we arrived the upper story was totally involved." Seventeen local firefighters, including nine volunteers, and another 20 firemen from the Bloomingburg and New Holland volunteer fire departments managed to save the bottom story of the main house, he added.

Reed said the blaze was under control by 4 a.m. and had been nearly extinguished by 5 a.m. However, clean up crews were still on the scene at 9:30

For 1978 county fair

Grandstand events revamped by board

The Fayette County Agricultural Society (county fair board) Monday night completely revamped grandstand programs for the 1978 Fayette County Fair.

The fair board has requested that the 1978 fair be held from July 23-29, but the dates are subject to approval by the Ohio Department of Agriculture.

The auto demolition derby, held on Friday and Saturday nights in past years, will open the 1978 fair. The auto demolition derby will be held on Sunday and Monday nights in front of the grandstand.

The board has decided not to have its traditional musical show in front of the grandstand next year.

The ever-popular tractor pull will be expanded by the fair board for the 1978 exposition. The tractor pull, usually held on Thursday night, will be staged on both Friday and Saturday nights.

The board agreed to expand the tractor pull in hopes of alleviating some of the problems encountered last year. Residents in the vicinity of the Fayette County Fairgrounds complained about the noise and the late hour of the event which always attracts a capacity crowd.

In addition to being able to accommodate more classes with a two-day event, the fair board also believes that the tractor pull will be able to start at an earlier hour, especially on Saturday.

The traditional harness horse racing program will be held next year on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights at the fairgrounds. Harness racing has been held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights in the past.

Ticket prices for the 1978 fair were reviewed and the board decided not to implement any increases.

Gate admission will continue to $1 per person and with a 50-cent parking charge for autos; $2 per person for the auto demolition derby, and $3 per person for the tractor pull. The harness races have a free grandstand.

The board is presently in the process of completing plans for the annual Ohio Fair Managers Association convention. Board president Eddie Kirk, who serves as president of the state fair

Overnight two-inch snowfall cancels Miami Trace classes

Old man winter is again playing havoc with area school schedules.

After a two-inch, early morning snow in Fayette County Tuesday, the Miami Trace School District called off classes. Last year, the school district missed 19 days due to the weather.

"We canceled classes because of the road conditions and predictions that the conditions would worsen," Guy Foster, the district superintendent, said.

It marked the first day of this school year that county schools have been closed. However, the school district has twice delayed the start of classes by one hour due to slick roads.

Foster also reported that a Title I parent-advisory committee meeting scheduled for Tuesday was postponed. The Washington C.H. School District held classes despite the two-inch snow, but other area schools shut down for the day.

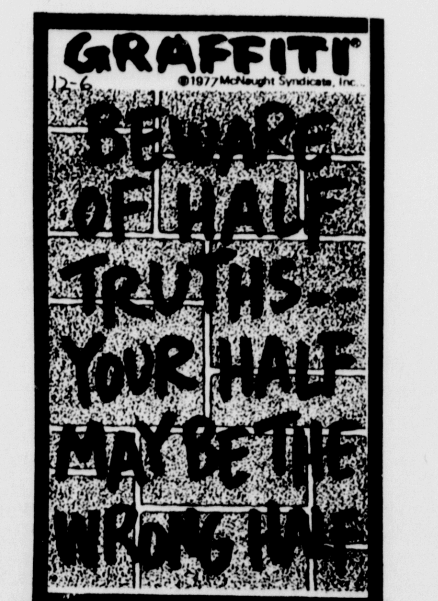

Classes were called off in both the Greenfield McClain and Frankfort Adena school districts. The Hillsboro School District also canceled classes.

The weather is also playing havoc with high school sports schedules. Although no sporting events were slated by Washington Senior or Miami Trace high schools, some South Central Ohio League basketball teams will not play tonight.

The game between Hillsboro and Leesburg high schools was postponed as were games between Circleville and Bloom-Carroll high schools and Teays Valley-Logan Elm high schools were postponed.

Both Circleville and Teays Valley high schools held classes today, but their opponents in tonight's basketball games canceled classes.

proposal Thursday evening, have also not heard from the city.

Friday's special Council session could result in some type of decision on the proposals.

The city has offered both departments a reinstatement of cost of living adjustments, which were taken from city employees this past summer when base salaries were hiked 15 per cent, and a plan for five per cent merit raises in the future.

Both departments are happy with the city's cost of living adjustment proposals and have included that in their counter proposals. However, both the firemen and the policemen are requesting immediate pay raises on Jan. 1.

Several minor provisions are contained in all the proposals, and there appears to be no disagreement over those provisions. The city's reluctance to give immediate pay raises and the employees insistence on such raises are the main points of contention.

Humphrey's wife rests at hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Muriel Humphrey, 65-year-old wife of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, is expected to remain at Washington Hospital Center for about a week to recover from exhaustion, a Humphrey aide said.

Betty South, Humphrey's press secretary, said Mrs. Humphrey is in the hospital for "a complete rest."

Assistant treasury secretary ill

Tax cut bill delay eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's plans to send Congress a major tax cut bill early next year could be delayed because of the illness of an assistant treasury secretary who suffered a stroke over the weekend.

His illness also could cause Carter additional trouble as congressional conferees attempt to put together an energy tax bill this year.

Laurence Woodworth, the 59-year-old tax expert, was listed in critical condition on Monday in a Newport News, Va., hospital.

Woodworth is not only the architect of most tax legislation over the past 10 years; he also is Carter's best link with Congress.

The esteem with which Woodworth is held in Congress was evident Monday. Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., halted proceedings of a Senate-House conference committee on Social Security to lead a silent prayer for his recovery.

Before becoming Carter's chief tax adviser, Woodworth was chief of staff

Egyptian chief ignores pressure

Sadat ends relations with Arab hardliners

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat has defied Arab pressure to abandon his peace overtures to Israel and broken relations with the five nations that met in Tripoli to condemn him.

Four of the five so-called hardliners — Syria, Libya, Algeria and South Yemen — agreed in Tripoli Monday to "freeze" relations with Egypt and form a "confrontation front" against Sadat. But the Egyptian president took a harder line than they did and broke relations.

The break also extended to Iraq, which attended the Tripoli summit but refused to sign the final declaration because it wanted tougher action against Egypt.

Asked about the Palestine Liberation Organization, which also signed the Tripoli Declaration, a spokesman for the Egyptian Foreign Ministry replied: "The PLO is not a country." But the Egyptian government expelled three top Palestinian officials in Cairo and closed the Voice of Palestine radio station after the Palestinians called for Sadat's overthrow because of his trip to Jerusalem.

Sadat's determination to pursue peace with Israel alone if the other Arab nations won't join him has resulted in the most serious split in the Arab world in years. But breaks in relations between Arab countries are nothing new and usually are healed eventually.

The split divides the Arab world into four main factions:

— Egypt, going all out for peace with the support of Sudan and Morocco;

— Syria, Libya and Algeria, condemning Sadat but restrained by Syria because only Egypt can help it get the Golan Heights back from Israel;

— Iraq, isolated by its complete intransigence toward Israel and its hatred of Syria;

— Saudi Arabia and Jordan, sitting on the sidelines, waiting for Egypt and Syria to work things out.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance prepared for another swing around the Middle East to urge the Arabs to "keep an open mind" toward Egypt's negotiations with Israel and to underline U.S. support for the Egyptian-Israeli meeting in Cairo in mid-December.

Vance will visit Lebanon, Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Egypt and Israel and is trying to arrange a visit to Syria.

Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin, visiting in London, said Israel welcomes Vance's coming visit and hopes he will be able to convince the Arabs of Israel's efforts to achieve peace.

He said Israel does not "rejoice" over Egypt breaking relations with the more unyielding Arab states "because we want a comprehensive peace settlement with all our Arab neighbors."

State senators eye special bill

Troubled school districts seeking legislative help

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — As school financial problems continue to mount throughout Ohio, troubled educators looked to the General Assembly today for some temporary help.

State senators were scheduled to consider special legislation that would bail out many school districts, including the state's largest in Cleveland, by allowing them to borrow money on next year's anticipated tax revenue.

The legislative action would come just one day after a judge in Cincinnati ruled that Ohio's method of distributing state funds for education is unconstitutional and gave officials until July 1 to find another way.

Passage of the legislature's special bill would establish a temporary law that could help more than 100 financially troubled school districts in Ohio. Present law does not allow school districts to borrow money they can't pay within the current calendar year.

Problems in school finances were evident in three of Ohio's largest cities: —In Cleveland, many public school teachers continued their "no work until paid" protest for a fourth school day while $15.4 million in education funds are tied up in a conflict between federal district court and the Ohio Supreme Court.

The teacher action forced cancellation of classes in 39 of the city's 176 schools Monday, affecting nearly 29,000 of the system's 113,000 students.

—In Toledo, heavy snows forced schools to close for a second day and delayed a showdown between school administrators and teachers who vowed not to work without assurances they will be paid.

The 53,000-students district is under a state court order to pay $9 million in bank debts before using tax money for daily operating expenses.

Toledo also is faced with the possibility that faulty ballot wording on an emergency property tax levy proposal may void a 6.1-mill tax increase. It was the passage of that increase Nov. 8 that allowed schools to reopen after an eight-day closure due to lack of funds.

—In Cincinnati, although the school board successfully challenged the constitutionality of Ohio's school financing system, the city's schools still face the same problem that's haunted so many districts — not enough money.

"Our backs were to the wall, and I'm not sure this victory will solve our problems in 1978," said Henry Kasson, school board president in Cincinnati where voters have turned down tax levies for nine years.

The state board of education promised to appeal the decision of a Common Pleas Court judge who ruled that the present state financing formula violates the Ohio Constitution and denies the state's two million school children equal protection under the law.

The judge agreed with the Cincinnati school board that the formula, which grants districts more money if they are able to pass additional levies, causes a wide disparity in the amount of money districts spend on each child.

Judge bans restrictions

Cancer drug appeal considered by FDA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration says it almost certainly will appeal a judge's order striking down federal restrictions on Laetrile.

"The FDA contends that Laetrile should be illegal to interstate commerce (and) we would fully expect to prevail on appeal. ... Our case is sound," an FDA spokesman said Monday night.

Earlier Monday, a U.S. district judge in Oklahoma City issued a permanent injunction forbidding the agency from enforcing its ban on interstate movement of the controversial substance, used by cancer patients.

Judge Luther Bohanon said the ban was arbitrary and capricious and places a "needless hardship and expense" on cancer patients.

FDA spokesman Jack Walden said the agency had not fully reviewed Bohanon's decision. "But if what we have heard is true, we almost assuredly will recommend an appeal." "This would seem to be a ruling against the federal law which requires that a drug be safe and effective before it can be marketed in this country," Walden said.

But Dr. John A. Richardson, an author and lecturer in favor of Laetrile usage, hailed Bohanon's ruling as "a really great victory for the grassroots struggle, the integrity of the court system and our republic."

Bohanon said Laetrile has been in use in this country long enough to be exempt from the FDA's so-called "new drug" regulations.

But the FDA maintains that the substance is not exempt. "We contend that Laetrile was not introduced and used in its present form and for its present purpose prior to 1962, which would have exempted it under the law," he said.

Laetrile is a trademark for a substance derived from the chemical amygdalin, found naturally in the pits of apricots and peaches and in bitter almonds.

Advocates claim Laetrile is an effective cancer treatment. The FDA and most of the medical establishment in this country contend there is no such proof.

The FDA has been waging an extensive campaign against Laetrile, and only last week issued a bulletin to the nation's physicians urging further study to determine if cancer patients could die from cyanide poisoning caused by the substance.

Bohanon noted that there are many highly educated doctors and scientists among Laetrile's supporters.

"To deem such advocacy 'quackery' distorts the serious issues posed by Laetrile's prominence and requires disregarding considerable expertise mustered on the drug's behalf," his order said.

CETA program, have been working with Dog Warden Reginald (Chink) Davis.

"We fell we've made some progress," Commissioner Ray D. Warner said noting that animal claims have been considerably less since Davis received extra help in patrolling the entire county. "We haven't had near the complaints," he said.

Dog license fees go for the salary of the dog warden, expenses at the county animal shelter, and animal claims.

Mace and Warner spent several hours out of the commissioners' office Monday to inspect water problems in the county which were intensified by over an inch of rain during the weekend.

They reported that several basements were flooded and other low places were saturated with water.

Fayette County Engineer Donald Conley dispatched crews to open clogged culverts and clean catch basins.

No major water problems were reported.

Next Monday, the commissioners are scheduled to open bids for a welfare department van and a bus for the Fayette County Progressive School. Profiles on the M.S. Haines ditch project are to be submitted Monday by Conley.

Stock market drops broadly

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices declined broadly today in selling blamed on concern over the continued slump of the dollar in foreign exchange markets.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 4.33 to 816.70 in the first half hour.

Losers took a 5-2 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The dollar, which registered a 28-month low by one measure on Monday, posted some further decline in Europe today.

Analysts say its steady slide has weighed down the stock market in part because it tends to discourage foreign investors from buying stocks in this country.

Blue chip and glamor issues losing ground in early trading included International Business Machines, off 1 1/4 at 262, and Eastman Kodak, down 1 1/4 at 50 1/4.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 2.95 to 821.03.

Declines outnumbered advances by a 7-5 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume totaled 19.16 million shares against 21.16 million in the previous session.

The NYSE's composite index was down .22 at 52.12.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index lost .32 to 124.29.

Home fire

Tuesday. The early morning snowfall caused some problems for the maneuvering of the fire trucks and one Washington C.H. fireman was slightly injured when a pumper became bogged down in the driveway.

Fireman Ed Helt reportedly suffered severe bruises of his elbow and shoulder when he was trapped between the trucks. He was taken to Fayette County Memorial Hospital where he was examined and later released.

Helt said a pumper trying to move around the other trucks got stuck off the side of the driveway and another truck, using a tow chain, pulled the pumper back onto the drive.

When Helt went between the two vehicles to remove the chain, he said, the pumper driver's foot slipped off the clutch and the vehicle backed up against the other truck trapping Helt.

The cold temperatures also caused water on the building's roof to freeze making it difficult for firefighters to move about and fight the blaze.

"We don't have any idea of what the cause (of the fire) could have been," said Washington C.H. Fire Chief M.L. (Joe) Denen. He said the blaze started in the second story and attic completely gutting the upstairs rooms and burning a portion of the stairwell.

Robert Greenwalt, an investigator from the Ohio Fire Marshal's office, was called to investigate, but Denen stated no conclusions as to how the fire began have been reached.

LT. Reed had said the cause was of a "suspicious nature."

The location of Mrs. Wong, who reportedly moved out of the house last Thursday with her two small children, is presently unknown.

A small fire in a Yeoman Street residence resulted in no damage Monday.

Washington C.H. Fire Department officials reported water got into a gas regulator valve igniting the gas fumes into flames around 11:18 a.m. at Walter Adams' residence, 1024 Yeoman St.

Firefighters shut off the natural gas lines to extinguish the blaze.

A natural gas leak was investigated by firefighters Monday at the home of Pearl Southward, 1141 E. Temple St.

According to the incident report, the leak was caused by a faulty thermo couple on the hot water heater. Fire officials reported air coming through an outside vent, which was lower than the roof line, was blowing out the burner.

Firefighters shut off the gas utility line. No damage was reported.

In other matters, the board authorized the expenditure of $1,000 to purchase a new freezer for the Mahan Building, and agreed to obtain estimates on the purchase of a new public address system for the sale barn on the fairgrounds.

Teen laughs after crash

NEW YORK (AP) — A teenager roared with laughter after jumping from a car he had just driven along a 42nd Street sidewalk near Times Square, killing one pedestrian and injuring 12 others, police said.

The careening auto, stolen Monday at gunpoint from a honeymooning Vermont couple, knocked victims into the air, the street and doorways before shearing off a fire hydrant outside a Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant and stopping just west of Seventh Avenue.

Witnesses said the driver, 19-year-old Harvey Collins of Manhattan, was set upon by an angry crowd before being rescued by police.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

FBI has file on mob hit squads

By JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON — The Mob, which once blasted victims with sawed-off shotguns and machine gun fire, may now be using a hit squad armed with quietly deadly .22 caliber pistols. Federal agents and local police in various cities across the country believe the new breed of killers has a score of at least 20 gangland murders on its books.
Among those shot at close range with silencer-equipped .22s in the past two years have been notorious Mob figures of "Godfather" stature. Others were small fry suspected of squealing to the FBI or other law enforcement agencies.
All were shot in the head. In two instances, the same weapon was used, FBI sources inform us. Here is a partial list of the victims:
—Sam Giancana, the 66-year-old Mafia boss who claimed he was retired. He met death from a .22 in the basement of his Chicago home in June, 1975.
—Frank Bompensiero, a San Diego mobster. Known to insiders as Bomp, he was shot in the head and neck last February as he emerged from a telephone booth where he frequently conducted underworld business.
—Tamara Rand, also slain in San Diego in November, 1975. She was an assistant to Allen Glick, a local businessman suspected by the FBI of having organized crime connections. The theory is that she was ready to tell investigators about Mob interests in Las Vegas gambling casinos.
—Jack Molinas, a known gambler and pornography peddler, executed in August, 1975 in Hollywood. Molinas, once convicted of a college basketball fix, was reportedly fingered for cheating a Mob loan shark.
The FBI has assigned top investigative priority to the case of the 22 killers. Agents have held secret meetings in several cities seeking leads, without success thus far. The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms and local police across the country also are in on the hunt.

We have learned that investigators in New York City believe a new gang, with narcotics connections, may be involved. They are young hoods who call themselves the Purple Gang, reminiscent of the Detroit underworld mob of the same name.
So far, investigators have been unable to infiltrate the new street invaders. But we have learned this about them:
—They are seemingly independent of the established old New York Mafia families. But there is a tenuous link between the young gang and the Genovese family.
—The Purple Gang is notorious for carrying .22s. Our sources say they are liable to kill any time, any place. New York police refer to them as "cowboys" because of their unbridled wildness.
—Investigators believe some of their weapons are .22 caliber pistols stolen in Florida.
Knowledgeable sources told our associate Marc Smolonsky several other theories are under investigation. They stressed that many of the victims were FBI informants prepared to testify about gangland activities. The sources said U.S. Marshals, responsible for witness protection, may have leaked information.
According to another theory, former Green Berets, trained to kill in Vietnam, may be making the hits. It's known, for example, that they used .22s for close-range killing. Still another possibility is that the Mob has imported killers from Sicily to take deadly care of those on organized crime's enemies list.
Soviet Squeeze — Secret congressional testimony has linked a Clark, N.J. shipping firm with a Soviet masterplan to undercut the U.S. merchant trade.
With the use of computers, the Soviets allegedly are using cutthroat economic devices to steal cargoes away from Western shipping companies. The Soviets are able to slash prices and grant customer rebates because of the galley-ship wages paid Russian seamen and the Kremlin subsidies that lower operating costs.
The closed-door testimony was taken by the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, headed by Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y. According to the witnesses, the Soviets are "systematically cutting freight rates to establish a carrying monopoly on certain routes."
The witnesses charged that the Soviets control at least a dozen maritime companies around the world on a dummy basis, including two in this country. Only one was identified: Morflot American Shipping, Inc., which conducts business out of Clark, N.J. and operates out of eight other port cities.
Morflot is headed by a former president of a U.S. shipping company. Morflot's $70 million annual business, witnesses alleged with alarm, has a "distinctively Soviet twist." By this, they meant that "Morflot has offered American shippers rates as low as 70 percent below those of privately owned American operators."
This is in keeping with a deliberate pattern contrived by two Moscow government agencies, Sovfracht and Sovinflet, monitoring the flow of ship traffic throughout the globe with computer printouts, the secret testimony contends.
Alarmed Western shippers warn that the economic threat is as dangerous as espionage. "Communist-bloc liner companies will force American consumers to pay higher shipping rates after the competition has been effectively eliminated," one witness predicted.
Footnote: We have been unable to reach Morflot's president, Arthua Novacek, for his comments.

Welfare crowds seek clothing

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — First, allocate $1 million to help welfare mothers clothe their children for the winter.
Second, set rules that distribute the money on a first come, first served basis, assuring grants for fewer than half the 93,000 welfare children in the state.
You get one big scramble to be at the head of the line.
On the first day for applications Monday, thousands of welfare mothers stood for hours in the cold and snow to apply for the $25-per-child emergency clothing checks at welfare offices around the state.
Several people fainted in the cold or when crowds surged forward and jammed the doors, trying to get inside to file applications. Six were taken to the hospital in Hartford and at least five were injured in New Haven, where a window also was broken.
"It certainly could have been better organized than this," said Hartford Deputy Police Chief Neil Sullivan as he surveyed the milling crowd on the cordoned-off street.
Roberta Lynch of West Hartford pointed to her 4-year-old daughter, Selena, and said: "She's been crying for the past two hours." Ms. Lynch said that after standing in line more than four hours, she was still 50 feet from the door.

Letter shows Columbus made first voyage with four ships

ROME (AP) — An Italian ambassador's letter written in 1493 indicates that Christopher Columbus made his first voyage to America with four ships rather than three as history records, Prof. Marinella Bonvini Mazzanti of Urbino University says.
Mrs. Bonvini Mazzanti says the letter was written from Barcelona on March 9, 1493, by Annibale de Gennaro, the ambassador of the king of Naples. It went to de Gennaro's brother, the ambassador to the duchy of Milan, and the scholar said she found it in the archives of the Este family, which ruled in Modena then.
According to history, Columbus' first expedition in search of a westward water route to the Far East consisted of three caravels, the Nina, the Pinta and the Santa Maria. But Mrs. Bonvini Mazzanti says de Gennaro, in telling his brother about the explorer's departure from Spain, wrote:
"For the entreaties of one called Columba, it pleased the king that he should rig four caravels because he said he wanted to go across the Grand Sea and sail straight westward long enough as to reach the Orient since the world being round he could but make a turn and find the eastern part."
"Columbus returned aboard the Nina, followed by the Pinta," said Mrs. Bonvini Mazzanti, a 36-year-old history professor, in a telephone interview from her home in Senigaglia, near Urbino.
"The Santa Maria was wrecked on Christmas Day of 1492 when Columbus left 40 men in a fort called 'Navidad' on the island of Hispaniola. The fourth ship remained behind with those in the fort."
She said there are references to this fourth ship being left behind in Columbus' diary, although the diary is never precise about the number of ships, and in the report he sent to King Ferdinand's treasurer from Lisbon on March 14, 1493, 10 days after he docked there on his return journey. But she said they were never interpreted as meaning he had departed with a fourth ship.
"When Columbus returned to the fort on the next journey, he reported the men had been killed and everything had been destroyed. Obviously, the caravel also had been destroyed by the infuriated natives," the professor said.
She said the ambassador's letter was based on Columbus' report from Lisbon to the Spanish monarch and Queen Isabella, and the envoy told his brother four times he had read it.

Moochers come in both sexes

DEAR ABBY: A 34-year-old woman, earning a top salary as an executive, wrote that she's hooked on a 28-year-old guy who's living with her and admits that he's fooling around with other women while she's at work.
She says he can't hold a job because he hates to get up in the morning. Meanwhile, he wants to marry her, but she's "torn" because all her friends tell her to kick him out.
She turns to you for advise, and you tell her not to marry him and you called him a "moocher." Why? Women have been doing exactly what he's doing for centuries and nobody calls THEM moochers.

MS. EQUAL RIGHTS
DEAR MS.: I called him a moocher because he IS a moocher. And a woman who sleeps until noon and sponges off a man is also a moocher. I agree with her friends. She should kick him out!
Laziness can be overlooked, but fooling around, never!
DEAR ABBY: Last year my boss gave a Christmas cocktail party at his home, followed by a dinner party immediately afterwards.
Only a few of the cocktail party guests were invited to the dinner. When it was time for dinner, the boss didn't want the uninvited guest to know, so he flashed the lights off and on several times to get everyone to leave.
That was rather embarrassing. There must be a more subtle way. Any suggestions?

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: There is no subtle way to "get everyone to leave." The gracious host patiently allows a party to die a natural death. Your boss should schedule his dinner party on another evening.
DEAR ABBY: The letter from MEDICAL SECRETARY really got to me. She's "ready to scream" because patients bring friends, kids and grandpa along, taking up the precious chairs in the doctor's waiting room.
Here's what you should have told MEDICAL SECRETARY for me:
"I brought the extra kid along because I live 70 miles round trip from the doctor's office and the kid has an appointment with another doctor this afternoon. I need to save time and gas, and I can't take time off from my job every day and still pay the doctor's bill.
Also, that wasn't "grandma" with me. She's a little old lady who lives in a nursing home, and that was her first trip anywhere in three months. I take her out whenever I can because no one else does.
And instead of beefing about your crowded waiting room, how about doing a better job scheduling patients so we won't have to wait for two hours? If the doctor would take us on time, his waiting room wouldn't always be short of chairs.
Finally, if crowded waiting rooms upset you so much, maybe you'd better find a job that suits you better before you have a stroke and find yourself on the other side of the waiting room desk."
There, I feel better now.

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 6, the 340th day of 1977. There are 25 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1941, President Franklin Roosevelt made a personal peace appeal to Emperor Hirohito of Japan. The Pearl Harbor attack came the next day.
On this date:
In 1847, Abraham Lincoln took his seat in Congress as a representative from Illinois.
In 1889, the president of the Civil War Confederacy, Jefferson Davis, died.
In 1917, some 1,600 people were killed in a collision between a Belgian ammunition ship and a French ammunition ship at Halifax, Nova Scotia.
In 1943, during World War II, the Soviets were informed that Dwight Eisenhower had been picked to command the Allied invasion of Europe.
In 1973, Gerald Ford was sworn in as the 40th vice president.
Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson appealed to businessmen to curb price hikes and pay increases to help keep down inflation.
Five years ago: An American military spokesman announced that U.S. planes struck at Vietcong rocket positions within 10 miles of Saigon's airport.
One year ago: Former Brazilian President Jose Goulart died of a heart ailment at the age of 58.
Today's birthday: Former football coach Lou Little is 84 years old. Actress Lynn Fontanne is 90.
Thought for today: Undoubtedly the desire for food has been, and still is, one of the main causes of great political events — Bertrand Russell, English mathematician and philosopher, 1872-1970.

Five deaths attributed to severe winter storm

By The Associated Press

Howling winds drove a severe Midwestern storm into the East, dumping up to 15 inches of snow and causing at least nine deaths in a sweep over three states.

Five deaths attributed to the storm were reported Monday — one in New York, two in Pennsylvania and two in Ohio. Most were heart attack victims shoveling snow or those caught in traffic accidents on slick roads.

Buffalo International Airport in New York was closed because of the storm. The snow line extended from northern Michigan through northern Pennsylvania and into northwestern New York and New England. An additional three or four inches of snow was expected today in many areas.

Six to seven inches of snow was common from St. Louis across Illinois, Indiana and into Ohio.

Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire had up to six inches by early today with more in the northern sections of those states.

Western Massachusetts had up to two inches of snow and the Boston area also had about two inches before the snow changed to rain Monday night.

The Arctic air swirling through the northern states today dipped into the South, cooling Monday's record temperatures for the date that saw parts of Georgia in the high 70s and temperatures in the high 90s in southern Texas.

The warm, humid conditions in the Southeast spawned tornados and severe thunderstorms Monday with injuries in Florida and Tennessee.

In Knoxville, Tenn., 11 schoolchildren were injured when winds toppled a temporary school building.

An elderly man was missing in Florida after his small fishing boat capsized near where an apparent tornado touched down.

The northern storm came nearly three weeks before the official beginning of winter Dec. 21 and barely a week after a late November storm brought heavy snowfall to many of the same areas.

In Detroit, a snow emergency was declared at mid-afternoon Monday, sending thousands of motorists onto snow-clogged streets.

At least 100 workers stranded in downtown Detroit office buildings took advantage of a $10 room discount offered by one hotel and stayed the night.

In Ohio, the 53,000-pupil Toledo school district was closed today for the second consecutive day because of snow. Several smaller school systems in the state also canceled classes.

Liz upstages award winners

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Irate female senators criticized a ceremony at the Puerto Rican Legislature where actress Elizabeth Taylor upstaged eight other recipients of the 1977 "Great Lady Award."

Miss Taylor and the eight Latin American women were recognized by the legislature Monday. The nine women will receive the awards from the American Women's Union tonight.

Following the ceremony at the Legislature, three women senators got into a heated discussion with organizers of the event, claiming the other women had been ignored while attention was directed toward Miss Taylor, who was to receive an award for civic work.

"I am sorry that so many distinguished women have been invited here to give importance to only one of them," said Sen. Mercedes Torres.

Another senator, Ruth Fernandez, who has a broken foot, stamped her crutches on the ground, and said: "The whole thing has been tactless." Sen. Celeste Benitez nodded in agreement.

Cincinnati moves into seventh

ISU makes poll vault; Wildcats remain No. 1

By The Associated Press
A week ago, Indiana State's basketball team wasn't even in The Associated Press Top Twenty and Purdue's potent Boilermakers were 11th in the rankings.
What a difference one week and 28 points make.
The Sycamores blew into the ratings — 11th place, to be exact — and the Boilermakers fell off the chart, compliments of the Sycamores' 91-63 romp over Purdue last week and thanks to the panel of sports writers and broadcasters who took note of that score before voting.
The nationwide panel also kept Kentucky, North Carolina, Notre Dame and Marquette in the top four positions.
Coach Joe Hall's top-ranked Wildcats, 1-0, who took last week off, got 23 of 43 first-place votes cast and 808 points, 56 more than North Carolina. The Tar Heels, 4-0 after victories over Oregon State, Duke and North Carolina State, received 16 first-place votes for 752 points.
The Fighting Irish, 3-0, got 651 points and two first-place votes and Marquette, 2-0, with one fourth-place vote, received 508 points.

San Francisco, fifth a week ago, fell to eighth due to a loss to Arizona State. As a result, UCLA, Arkansas and Cincinnati each moved up one position.
The Bruins, 4-0, got one first place vote and 439 points for fifth, followed by Arkansas, 4-0, with 395 points and Cincinnati, 3-0, with 273.
San Francisco barely managed to hold eighth. The Dons' 209 points was one more than ninth-place Michigan got. The Wolverines were 13th a week ago. And right behind them, rounding out the First Ten with 205 points, are the Running Rebels of Nevada-Las Vegas.
Trailing Indiana State in the Second Ten are Maryland, up two places this week; St. John's, up three; Utah, up six spots to 14th; Holy Cross, up two; Louisville, down seven to 16th; Detroit, up two; Syracuse, down six to 18th, and Kansas and Providence. The Jayhawks and Friars entered the ratings and kayoed Alabama, 15th last week, and Wake Forest, formerly 18th.

The Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press college basketball poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points based on 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

1.Kentucky (23)	1-0	808
2.N.C. (16)	4-0	752

Stan almost held out for $4000

Musial marvels at system

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
CLEARWATER BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The wave of $2 and $3 million contracts for baseball's free agents strikes an ironic chord in the memory bank of Stan "The Man" Musial, who recalls that he almost blew his career over a $4,000 salary dispute.
"It was in 1947, my first and only holdout," the St. Louis Cardinals' Hall of Famer said over the weekend at one of his three luxury hotels where he was hosting the nation's top men and women golfers in the Mixed Team Championship.
"The year before I was making $13,500 but owner Sam Breadon gave me a $5,000 raise in July — I hit .365 that year when he won the pennant and beat the Boston Red Sox in the World Series. So when the next season came around I decided I ought to get a hike.
"I asked for $35,000. You would have thought I hit breadon across the head with a baseball bat. He was a tough bargainer. He offered me $21,000.
"He said that was a $7,500 raise. I said it was only $2,500 because he wasn't counting the $5,000 raise he gave me in midseason. We haggled for a month over it. I argued that guys like Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams were getting $30,000 and $40,000.
"Finally, Eddie Dyer, our manager, stepped in. He asked would I compromise for $31,000. I was tired of arguing. I wanted to play ball. So I said,

"Okay."
Musial went on to play 22 years for the Cards, leading the National League in hitting seven times and three times being voted the NL's Most Valuable Player. He was the first NL'er to earn $100,000. He finished with a career batting average of .331.
"It staggers me to think of what DiMaggio, Williams, Bobby Feller, Dizzy Dean, Warren Spahn and Sandy Koufax might command on today's market," he mused. "Double or three times what the guys are getting today."
"Maybe $10 million?" someone suggested.
"Why not?" Musial replied.
Successful hotel owner — his other establishments are in St. Louis and Miami — and now a vice president in the Cardinal organization, Stan the Man can look at baseball's sudden salary boom from both angles.
"You know, Curt Flood was with us when he started challenging the reserve clause almost 10 years ago," the lean and youngish 57-year-old pride of Donora, Pa., said. "He was before his time. Baseball was sacred — like mother and apple pie.
"Then the game started expanding. They built big, fancy stadiums seating 60,000. Television poured in millions. It was only natural that players would demand their share."
Musial suggested that baseball perhaps could have avoided the sharp backswing of the pendulum if it had made gradual concessions to the players bound by the now-shattered reserve clause.

"I think agents serve a worthwhile purpose," he said. "I never had an agent. Fred Corcoran handled endorsements and investments for me just as he did for Williams and Sam Snead but I did all my salary negotiations — head to head.
"Most ball players are not equipped — especially in today's big money market — to do this. They're not business men. They can't protect their interests. With an agent, they can avoid a lot of animosity that turns up in salary talks."
Musial attributes today's dearth of great hitters such as DiMaggio and Williams — he modestly omits himself to the changing face of the game. "There used to be 200 regular players — now there are 400," he adds. "They are force fed into the majors. They don't battle their way up through the minors the way we did. They can't hit. They haven't learned to go with the pitch and hit to the opposite field."
Stan, with his coiled lefty stance, was a master of the technique, but, regrettably, he says, it's ruined his golf game.
"If I got a slider outside, I hit to the opposite field. An inside ball, I pulled it to right. For 22 years, I avoided hitting to center field. Any dunce knows that's not good in golf."

Wilkens turning Seattle around

Sonics win fourth in a row

SEATTLE (AP) — As the only undefeated coach in pro basketball this season, Lenny Wilkens had a point.
"Listen," the Seattle SuperSonics' boss said, addressing his post-game inquisitors in a tone of voice which left no doubt what he meant, "it wasn't a picture-perfect game, but we won it.
For Wilkens, the popular former Sonics player who became Seattle's coach for the second time when he replaced the fired Bob Hopkins last week, Monday night's 99-88 victory over the Atlanta Hawks in the National Basketball Association's only game was special for a couple of reasons.
It was Wilkens' fourth straight triumph since assuming his third NBA coaching job six days ago. It was also his 200th victory, against 214 losses, in his relatively brief coaching career.

The events of the past week have been viewed as nothing short of amazing by the Sonics' fans, who were subjected to 17 defeats in Seattle's first 22 games before Wilkens was asked to move from his desk as the club's director of player personnel to a seat on the bench.
The Sonics, who improved to 9-17 and moved within one game of fourth-place Los Angeles in the Western Conference's Pacific Division, appeared to have things well in hand in the third period, holding a comfortable 69-53 lead with 4:30 to play.
But the Hawks, who shot only 35 percent for the game, battled back in the final period. Rookie Wayne Rollins, who paced Atlanta with 17 points and 12 rebounds, tied the game at 88-88 with 1:53 to play with a short hook shot.

But speedy Gus Williams canned a jumper from the corner, John Johnson followed with a lay-in and Williams hit another jumper for a 94-88 Seattle lead with 51 seconds left that killed the threat.
"It's tough to shoot 35 percent on the road and win," said Hawks' Coach Hubie Brown, whose team dropped to 12-9 and 1½ games behind Central Division-leading Washington in the Eastern Conference.
Marvin Webster, the Sonics' young center, grabbed a game-high 19 rebounds, including 10 offensive boards, and scored 10 points. Williams led all scorers with 26 points, followed by John Johnson with 22 and Dennis Johnson with 20 for Seattle.
Ollie Johnson and Ron Behagen added 16 points apiece for Atlanta. Charles Criss, who sparked the Hawks' fourth quarter rally, added 14.

Winter strikes SCOL again

Four and counting. Old Man Winter is picking up right where he left off last basketball season as the three SCOL games scheduled for tonight have all been cancelled.
Last season, more than 30 cancellations dotted the schedule. This season, snow and ice have hit southern Ohio in just the second week of the season.
Scheduled tonight were to have been Leesburg Fairfield at Hillsboro, Circleville at Bloom-Carroll and Teays Valley at Logan Elm. Hillsboro, Bloom-Carroll and Logan Elm were all closed today, cancelling interscholastic activities.
According to the Ohio High School Athletic Association (OHSAA), when the home team is closed on a game day, the game must be cancelled. If only the opposing team is out of school, there is an option to play the game or to cancel it. That is what happened last week when the Miami Trace-Greenfield game was rescheduled for Jan. 3.

EYEING THE SHOT — Cheryl Roberts (15) of Miami Trace, launches a one-handed jumper in last night's basketball game between the Panthers and Greenfield McClain, won by Miami Trace. Trailing Roberts are teammates Heidi Stockwell (11) and Debbie Edlemon (24).

Last night was the home opener for the girls and they will play again at the MTHS gymnasium Saturday night, beginning at 6:30 p.m. The opponents will be Class AAA power Chillicothe. (R-H photo by Tim Carson)

Dolphins, Colts both 9-3

Miami knots AFC East division with 17-6 win over Baltimore

MIAMI (AP) — "Great," said Don Shula.
"Tough," said Ted Marchibroda.
The coaches of the Miami Dolphins and Baltimore Colts, respectively, spoke as they surveyed a newly-jumbled Eastern Division of the National Football League's American Conference.
The Dolphins tied Baltimore for the division lead with a 17-6 victory over the Colts Monday night on national television.
Gritty defense, a costly Baltimore fumble and an electrifying 77-yard touchdown run by rookie fullback Leroy Harris made the difference for Miami.
Harris, a fireplug back at 5-feet-10 and 220 pounds, turned a short-yardage center plunge into a score halfway through the fourth quarter as Miami fought to maintain a 10-6 lead.
It was the longest run ever from scrimmage by a Dolphin. "I was looking for a filling station to gas up," said Harris, who gained 140 yards in the game.
The Dolphins and Colts now have matching 9-3 records with two regular season games left. The New England Patriots are just a game back at 8-4 and still have a shot at the division title.
The Dolphins' final opponents are the Patriots next Sunday in Foxboro, Mass., then Buffalo in Miami December 17. Baltimore plays at home against both Detroit and New England.
Should Miami and Baltimore both win their remaining two games and finish 11-3, the Dolphins would be Eastern Division champions on the basis of a better record within the division — 7-1 to 6-2.
The Patriots get a chance at both leaders in the next two weeks and could throw the race into a three-way tie at 10-4. In that case the Patriots would win the division because of a 3-1 record against the other two teams, with Miami 2-2 and Baltimore 1-3.
"One of our great wins," said Shula as he savored Monday's victory. "I hope what we've done tonight is knock Baltimore out of it." It was the first time in six games that Miami was able to stop the Colts.

"We're in a good position now, even though it's a short week of preparation for New England," Shula said.
Baltimore's Marchibroda sighed, "We're not out of it yet. We still have a chance to win the division or to win the wild card. It's just tough."
The Colts mustered only field goals of 32 and 27 yards by Toni Linhart in the first quarter.
Though Colts quarterback Bert Jones connected on 18 of 34 passes for 189 yards, Baltimore's potential go-ahead drive in the third quarter stalled on a fumble. After directing his squad to the Miami four, Jones handed off to fullback Roosevelt Leaks, who was hit and fumbled into the end zone.

Garro Yepremian punched a 27-yard field goal and Bob Griese passed 15 yards to Andre Tillman to give Miami a 10-6 halftime lead.

UD jayvees blitz Patriots

DAYTON, Ohio — Southern State College fell victim to the University of Dayton junior varsity last night, 74-58. "The team just decided to play a poor game," stated Patriot coach Bob Jacoby. "There's not one person we can single out. You have to give credit to their defense and the fact that we didn't play well."
The Patriots, who average shooting 50 percent a game, watched their shot percentage fall to 33.8 last night.

Johnny Hill from Toledo was the high scorer for SSC with 13 points while Washington C.H.'s Doug Phillips put away 10 counters. Hill was the leading rebounder with 11 boards.
Tom Knoth was the leading scorer for UD with 17 points followed by Tim Mulligan with 17. Also scoring in double digits were Tom Swidarski and Mark Borrso, each with 10 points.
The Patriots have four days to regroup and will take on Lima Northwestern Saturday evening at the Hillsboro High School gym.

Bonds traded to White Sox

HONOLULU (AP) — Slugger Bobby Bonds was traded for the third time in the last four years Monday as the California Angels and Chicago White Sox completed a six-player deal at baseball's winter meetings. The Sox acquired the veteran outfielder along with Thad Bosley and teen-aged pitcher Dick Dotson from the Angels in exchange for catcher Brian Downing and pitchers Chris Knapp and Dick Frost.
Bonds hit .264 last season with 37 homers and 115 runs batted in. He also stole 41 bases.

TV Viewing

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — After nine years on commercial television, "The National Geographic Special" has achieved a freedom on public television it has never enjoyed before.
"We had a very good relationship with CBS," said Dennis Kane, the Geographic's executive producer for the series. "However, as the case would be with any outside packager you have a bit of pressure. They make certain recommendations."
But the main problem when the show was on CBS, and on ABC in its final year on commercial television, was time.
"The networks renewed the specials on a year-to-year basis, which gave us only eight to nine months to plan and film four specials a year," Kane said. "That was not the best way to operate. We didn't have enough time to develop the special. You really need about two years with a documentary."
After ABC canceled the series the National Geographic turned to public television and station WQEE in Pittsburgh. Next, they went to the Gulf Oil Corp.
"Gulf gave us an unprecedented grant to do the series for three years. We got $1.3 million up front for each year — and it was hands off from both Gulf and the Public Broadcasting Service," he said.
The Geographic's first special for the year, "Yukon Passage," is showing this week on public television. In many areas the first airing was Monday night.
Next up, in the second week of January, will be "The Legacy of L.S.B. Leakey." Other shows this season will be "The Great Whales" and "The Living Sands of Namib."
The Geographic's first special for PBS, "The Incredible Machine," on the human body, broke all viewing records for public television. In fact, all of its shows last year finished in the top four in the ratings for public television.

Kane estimates that on CBS and ABC the specials drew an audience of 22 million to 23 million. On PBS, he estimates they reach 18 million to 20 million people over the course of two or three airings within a week.
Kane said, "In the beginning in the 1960s we were very much into animals. No one had done that before, but then other producers began doing animal shows. We're mainly into people stories now. We will do animal stories, such as the whales and the desert of Namib."
"But our animal stories are now about animals with a problem. There's a good chance the whale could become extinct. We give people a feeling about whales, we get close to them, but we show what it would mean if they do indeed become extinct. The Namib story is about animals you see nowhere else and how they have adapted to the desert over millions of years."
Shows in the works are on gold and man's involvement and fascination with the metal; the human mind and its powers; the last of the great steamships; Hong Kong; and the problems facing the elephant, particularly in Africa where it may become extinct by the end of the century.

Jaycees hold paper drive

The Washington C.H. Jaycee chapter held its weekly paper drive Saturday at the Seaway discount store parking lot on Clinton Avenue.
Thirty-four local residents took advantage of the opportunity to dispose of their old newspapers, magazines, and catalogs at the paper drive, according to Leroy Farris, project chairman.
On hand to unload cars were Dale Butler, Gary Johnson, and Farris. Over 5,000 pounds of paper for recycling were received during the two-hour drive.
Other businesses and individuals contributing to the paper drive were Clem Edwards, Jr., Larry Cruza, the Record-Herald, the Weekly Advertiser, Seaway, WCHO radio, and Jerry Gault.
The next Jaycee paper drive will be held on Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the Seaway parking lot on Clinton Avenue.

Area Mason wins York Cross honor

Dale J. Evans, 13260 Ohio 41-N, near Jeffersonville, has been awarded the designation of Knight of the York Cross of Honour.
The honorary degree, the highest in the York Rite of Freemasonry, is conferred only on those who have held the highest office in each of the four bodies of the rite. Evans becomes one of 400 of the over 250,000 Masons in North America, the Philippines and Australia to qualify this year.
Evans served as master of the Jeffersonville Masonic Lodge in 1975; high priest of Fayette Chapter, Royal Arch Masons in 1976; master of Fayette Council, Royal and Select Masters in 1974; and commander of Garfield Commandery, Knight Templar in 1975.

Ohio miners join strike

By The Associated Press
Union officials expected few pickets at Ohio's coal mines today as most of the state's 10,000 union coal miners joined in a nationwide strike that has cut coal production in half.
"The only people who will be showing up for work are the foremen," a spokesman for the United Mine Workers Union District 6 in Bellaire said before the walkout began at 12:01 a.m. "And as long as they don't try to do too much work — just keep up the air supply — there probably won't be much picketing."

Law enforcement officials in Meigs and Vinton counties in the southeast Ohio coal fields said they knew of no pickets at mines in their areas.
"They're all union people out there, and they're not going to work," said Chief Deputy Bob Beegle of the Meigs County Sheriff's Department.

In Vinton County, the wife of Sheriff Ronald Davis said she knew of no pickets reporting to coal mines there.
"The union usually calls us if they're going to set up a picket line, and nobody has called us," she said.
Actually, only a few of Ohio's miners were on the job Monday, as workers at eight major facilities — including three Southern Ohio Coal Co. mines in Meigs counties — began the strike early. The work action closed the eight mines. Some miners walked out as early as Thursday.

"They just are not working today (Monday)," said Chester Sexton, president of Local 1886, one of three locals in Meigs County.

"Some were going to work, but they decided against it since it was so close to the strike deadline," said Sexton.
Another convincing factor for the miners who stayed off the job was the fact that many coal producers, suppliers and users have stockpiled enough of the fuel to last several weeks, Sexton said.

Miners were at work Monday at a couple of small southern Ohio mines and some non-union mines, said Henry Ciechomski, chief of Ohio's division of mines.

Goodyear eyes court's order

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. spokesman on Monday predicted "a marginal effect on our business" from a Maryland court order preventing Goodyear from marketing tires through oil companies in that state for 18 months.

A consent decree, sought by the Maryland attorney general based on a 1974 complaint, prevents the rubber producer from making exclusive tire-marketing agreements with any Maryland oil company for five years.

Christmas story told to Kiwanis

"In Search of Christmas," was the theme of a story told to Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club members Monday night by the Rev. Ralph Wolford, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Washington C.H.

It seems, the Rev. Wolford began, that a newspaper reporter was given orders by his editor to write a new Christmas story—something entirely different from the old story of the babe in a manger, the wisemen, Mary and Joseph, and the shepherds.

A thought struck him. He could write about three wisemen from the west instead of the east. They could be men of prominence.

One could be an industrialist seeking new and bigger export outlets. But, he would get so involved in business he would never reach the manger to present his gift.

The second wiseman could be a military expert bent on recruiting a large army. But, the Romans would never allow him to cross their far-flung empire, so he would fail to deliver his gift, also.

The third could be a public relations consultant giving out press releases as he journeyed to Bethlehem. But, he would be bound to detour through Egypt and never reach the manger. Unsatisfied, the journalist dropped the story.

Another idea emerged. Could he find the answer to "Where is He, King of the Jews?"

This thought prodded the journalist to go outside on the busy street.

Make-believe Santas were ringing their bells and looking hopefully for coins being dropped in their pots.

The journalist gazed at the gaily decorated windows of the department store, then wandered inside the largest one. Crowds of last-minute shoppers were pushing and shoving, shouting to clerks for service. But, he noticed the busy clerks found time to wish each customer a "Merry Christmas," and the customers all said "thank you". The spirit of the king was here.

Next, the journalist stopped at the fire station and watched the firemen repair old toys for needy children. The spirit of Christmas was here, too.

Then, he thought of his daughter, who had donated her finest doll for a gift to a needy child. The little girl had remarked that the doll had given her so much joy, she wanted to share it with another.

Next, he heard carolers eagerly planning which neighborhood to sing at and he passed a church where preparations were being made for a special Christmas service.

Everyone seemed to have the spirit of Christmas. Now, he knew the answer to "Where is he, born king of the Jews." He is in all people.

He then knew that there is no new Christmas story, because the story of the "Babe in Bethlehem" is continually new. He returned to the typewriter and wrote the best story of his life.

With the end of Rev. Wolford's story, the meeting was quietly closed by club president Gerald Ragland.

In Focus

by
Charlie Pensyl

This fat guy with white whiskers and a red suit was in the shop the other day and he said that most of the people he had talked to wanted a PENTAX camera this Christmas. He said he hoped we had plenty of the PENTAX K-1000 on hand, "cause that was the one people wanted. Well, we had had lots of the K-1000, but they were about gone, and there was no way to get more because this camera is about the most popular unit in the country and they're hard to get. No way could we get more K-1000's.

About that time in pops Benny, the UPS man with a big carton full of Pentax K-1000's. They'd been sent to us by mistake. We got on the phone to PENTAX to find out what to do with them. We were told that the order went back to the summer and our name was on it — apparently by mistake — but we could keep them if we wanted them. So now we have a good stock of the great SLR people are asking for this Christmas. The thing is, was this just good luck, or did that twinkle in Santa's eye mean that he had something to do with goofing up that order back in the summer. We'll never know about that, but we do know that lots of folks hereabouts will be getting K-1000's for Christmas who wouldn't without that mistake somebody (maybe with Santa's help) made last summer. You might want to tell Santa you'd like to get one of those cameras this Christmas. Take my word for it: He's a nice guy. And the K-1000 is a great camera.

Two weather-related mishaps reported

Driver hurt as tank truck overturns

A tank truck hauling fuel oil and gasoline overturned on Ghormley Road just west of York Road Monday slightly injuring the driver.

The driver, John E. Roseberry, 28, of South Solon, was taken to Fayette County Memorial Hospital in a private vehicle. He was treated for contusions and released, according to hospital officials.

The Greenfield Fire Department stood by at the scene in case the single-body truck, which was severely damaged, burst into flames, Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported, but no fire resulted.

Roseberry applied his brakes as he approached a curve on Ghormley Road around 11:20 a.m. and the truck slid sideways turning over on the road, according to the sheriff's department report.

Snow-covered roads apparently caused little trouble for area drivers Tuesday morning, according to sheriff's deputies reports. Only two weather-related accidents were reported by deputies as of late this morning.

A semi tractor-trailer jack knifed on U.S. 35 at Camp Grove Road about 6 a.m. resulting in moderate damage to the rig.

Plezy Newberry, 28, of Bainbridge, the rig's driver, reportedly told investigators deputies his brakes locked causing him to lose control of the vehicle. He was not injured.

Sheriff's deputies reported a rear-end collision occurred around 6:30 a.m. on Ohio 41 just north of Washington-New Martinsburg Road.

Ethel J. Porter, 39, of Bloomingburg, was traveling south on Ohio 41 behind Gloria H. Orihood, 55, of New Holland, when Ms. Orihood slowed for another vehicle stuck on the road and was rear-ended by the Porter car.

Ms. Porter stated to sheriff's deputies she was unable to stop in time when the Orihood car stopped. Neither driver was injured.

Sheriff's deputies reported two hitskip accidents Monday.

An unidentified driver backed over a mailbox and post along Ohio 753 about a half-mile north of Flakes Ford Road sometime Sunday or Monday, according to one accident report. The driver had apparently stopped and was backing into a private driveway when he missed the drive and struck the mailbox and post.

A semi tractor-trailer knocked down a sign post and stop sign as it pulled onto Bogus Road from the Town and Country Market parking lot at U.S. 22 about 7:25 a.m.

Sheriff's deputies said the driver, who did not report the crash, was trying to make a left turn onto U.S. 22 from Bogus Road when the accident occurred.

In one other accident reported by sheriff's deputies, a Leesburg man, Dale A. Lightner, 18, smashed through 12 feet of a board fence along Simmons Road nearly a half-mile south of Penn Road early Monday.

According to the accident report, Lightner failed to negotiate a sharp right curve and drove off the left roadside striking the fence. No injuries were reported in the 1:30 a.m. crash.

Two collisions were reported by Washington C.H. police officers Monday.

Police officers cited Guy B. Fields, 31, of Jamestown, after his vehicle struck the side of another car on Columbus Avenue at Blackstone Avenue around 3:22 p.m.

Fields reportedly was eastbound in the center lane of Columbus Avenue when he applied his brakes behind another vehicle, which was turning left onto Blackstone Avenue. Fields car traveled into the curb lane striking a car, driven by Carol J. Sollars, 19, of 1218 High St. Both vehicles sustained minor damages.

Police officers cited Fields for failure to control. No injuries were reported.

Two cars collided in the intersection of Sycamore and Third streets about 3:33 Monday afternoon, police officers stated.

Carol A. Martindale, 22, 332 Cherry St., had stopped for a stop sign on Third Street and turned north onto Sycamore Street into the path of an oncoming car. The woman reportedly stated she didn't see the other car, driven by 16-year-old Ronald E. West, of 218 Kennedy Ave., according to the police department report. Both drivers escaped injury.

Police officers also reported Tuesday a parked car, belonging to Samuel C. Aills, 814 Leesburg Ave., was struck by a car driven by Thomas D. Wood, 56, of Sabina, last Wednesday in Frisch's Restaurant parking lot, 543 Clinton Ave.

Only Aills' vehicle received minor damage, police officers said. Wood reportedly left the scene after the crash occurred.

Prayer breakfast draws 15 persons

Fifteen teens braved the cold to attend the teen prayer breakfast held at the South Side Church of Christ Tuesday morning. Since Miami Trace classes were cancelled, many others were unable to attend.

Bro. Marvin Ringer conducted the devotions during the meditation period. He spoke on the Christian virtues, found in II Peter 1: 5-8.

The breakfast, which consisted of French toast, hot chocolate, cereal, juice and milk, was served by Mrs. Bob Bolender, Mrs. Charles Starkey, Mrs. Fred Johnson and Mrs. Frank Creamer.

Maurica Milstead, a freshman at Washington Senior High School, led the group singing and also gave the student devotions.

The next teen prayer breakfast is scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 13 at 7 a.m. All teens, grades 9-12, and teachers are welcome.

Correction

In a single-car crash which injured three persons, reported in Monday's edition of the Record-Herald, James O. Conley, 521 E. Market St., has not been cited by Fayette County sheriff's deputies.

The citation was listed on the accident report, but has not been issued to the driver.

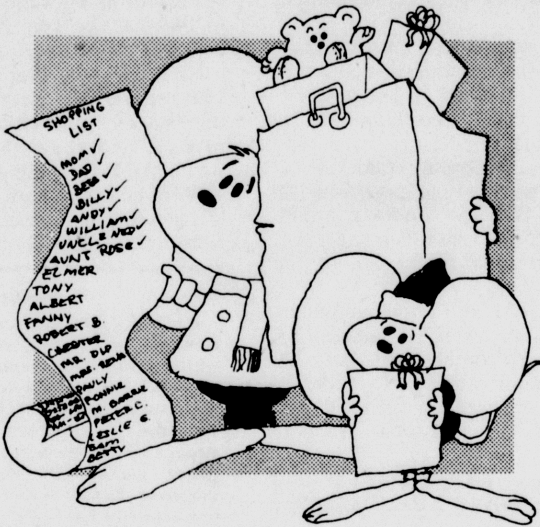

The two youths injured in the crash reside with Conley at 521 E. Market St.

St., stated the 7½-foot square window was cracked across the bottom, according to a Washington C.H. Police Department report.

He added that several people had been sitting along the window ledge watching the Christmas parade Saturday and may have leaned against the glass causing it to crack.

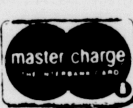

Police officers also reported a theft of two wheel covers from a car parked along the 400 block of Gregg Street occurred sometime Sunday.

According to the incident report, the wheel covers, valued at around $100, were stolen from a 1978 model Lincoln between 7:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. The car belongs to Harold Long of 1896 U.S. 62-NE.
